UNLACQUERED BRASS

A living finish that is meant to patina over time, unlacquered or “raw” brass is not sealed with a clear coat of protective varnish like other finishes. The aged look and character will evolve and darken with use and oxidation, or if you prefer, can be polished to reveal its original brilliant shine.

MIXED FINISHES

Can't decide on a finish? You don't have to choose! Increasingly, designers are using multiple finishes and tones between their lighting, plumbing and hardware fixtures to bring depth and visual interest to their space. Whether you do a mix of pulls and knobs in different finishes in your kitchen, or 2 finishes between your door lever and rosette: with Emtek, you don't have to choose.

MODERN BRONZE

Often considered a more traditional material, Emtex offers a selection of modern styles in our Bronze finishes. Bronze as a base material provides a “living” finish, meant to evolve with age, use and exposure. These pieces blend old and new: a classic yet rustic material in a contemporary profile.

In the foreground, there is a white armchair with several patterned pillows. To the left, a wooden chair is visible. To the right, a round table with a dark top and a black base is partially visible. The floor is made of light-colored wood. The overall aesthetic is clean and contemporary.
